9:30 am to 4:30 pm

Animalia in Miniature with Ruth Vreeland

Students will learn the basics of handling watercolor paints and brushes, and explore a variety of techniques (glazing, layering, methods for saving the white of the paper, juxtapositioning of color, key techniques in creating the perfect neutral color, softening and/or losing a few edges).

Painting subjects will be mostly Zoo animals, using Ruth's reference photos. Students may also bring in a reference photo of their own to use, if the lighting provides good contrast and the photo has clear detail. We will also briefly explore the fundamentals of composition, contrast of values, the essentials of a good initial drawing, how to achieve perfect chiaroscuro and working from great vs. bad photo references.

9:30 am to 4:30 pm

Pysanky Egg Art with Jane Chevalier

Learn Ukrainian batik style egg art. Pysanka means to write on egg shell. In this class you will learn the basics of layering hot beeswax and aniline dye to create your own Pysanka. You will take home 2 – 3 Pysanky, as time and ability allows. We will be working with empty chicken egg shells but you will learn how to empty whole eggs. History, tradition, symbolism, color meanings, kistky types (hot wax pen), wax types, writing on different egg shells and more will be covered.

The artist will have supplies for purchase if you wish to continue doing pysanka after the workshop.

Friday, April 5, 2019

9:30 am to 4:30 pm

Become a Skywatcher with Katherine Irish

This pastel workshop will have you approaching skies in exhilarating colors with personality. Big skies over the desert, approaching weather, defined by the size and shapes of clouds. Perfect your composition and value to communicate the intended feeling. Skies teach us of our ever-changing experience in life, a moment never to be repeated, never the same.

These workshops are $50 each or all 3 for just $125. A non-refundable $25 deposit is due with your registration per workshop. Cash or check only, made payable to Bardean, LLC. Balance will be collected at the workshop. Workshop size is limited to 16 attendees. A supply list will be sent to those that registered closer to the workshop dates. If you need further information contact Barbara Lohbeck at bardean12@comcast.net.
